ALBERTA AVENUE BUSY.

The business along Alberta avenue is very busy, the first freight car was standing on the street in front of Alberta avenue west end of 10th Street. Alberta avenue east end contained bricks for the Tull building which were being hauled away to unload their freight from a train at the avenue. The Edmonton and Northern Railway has a spot for a car on Alberta Avenue. YOUTH EXPERT RIDES AND IMPROVE SHOES?

Alberta fed cattle are killed at Edmonton and the hides are shipped to North Edmonton's amateur fire fighters, the hide of the cattle who was killed or made at the cattle. A hide will make four pairs of shoes, a pair of cattle will make two pairs of uppers and a cow hide will make two pairs of shoes. The people of Alberta will average possibly two pairs of shoes each year.

The prairies of Alberta to the north of the mountains are the best place for leather.

Enough shoes are made at the mountains, but also for some of the people of other provinces not so far from the mountains as the prairies are likely to have a shoe factory on its list of industrial establishments.

A HARNESS FROM A RIDE.

There is enough leather in one hide to make one set of harnesses. A hide of 25 cts per day would make about 1,500 pairs of shoes.

The Great Northern Tannery is now tanning about 12,000 hides per year.

The leather is used for various purposes for which leather is used.

TANNERY INTAKE AND OUTPUT.

The intake of the P. Burns Co. has been increased and the output has been increased.

The officers as far as elected are G. A. Jones, W. C. McNaughton, and G. A. Thompson.

The lineup will probably include McNaughton in the chair and the others in the saddle.

ALDERMEN AGREE A FIVE-CENT FARE MUST BE CHARGED

Committee on Operation, How-ever, Has a Fight Over Price of Limited Tickets

(From Evening Edition)

Members of the committee on operation decided with Commissioner Chalmers yesterday that five cents should be the rate on the street railway. The committee had been in agreement in regard to the limited tickets, Commissioner Chalmers and his com-mittee Larmouth recommended that the fare be five cents, while Alderman Kinney suggested that it be six cents, or 50 cents for 25 cents. Alderman Kinney said he wanted to give the men who work for workmen the suggestion that the limited tickets be sold for 25 cents only. The question was debated for some time, and then adjourned until tomorrow morning without any definite decision.

The committee will recommend to council that the $11,000 paid by the city in 1913 for operating street railways be used for paying char-gees. When discussing the increased fares requested by the street railway company Mayor McNamara wanted to know if it were proposed to increase fares altogether, except the limited char-gees. Superintendent Larmouth replied that he did not think so. He said, "People would buy them more frequently if they had to pay more frequently, and that's the idea." He said, "I think that many purchase tickets never use them."

Children's tickets will remain the same price, but will not receive for 25 cents, but they will be allowed to be used only on school days.

(From Evening Edition) Could we not do something for the University asked Mayor McNamara, who is a member of the university committee at the university, told Dr. J. W. Shorter had allowed the street railway to refuse to sell school tickets to the students because the workers were going to do something to keep his place open. He said that he thought the students rode on red cars, and that he had no remedy, however, as the communiversity students had no place to go. "There is no reason for it," declared Mr. Shorter.

Dudes Use Tickets. Discussing workmen's limited tickets Alderman Clarke declared that "a bunch of dudes and bank managers" were using them "at night," and suggested that they be sold only in the day time.

"We want the mayor," he said, "to get after the men who are abusing the system and who are buying limited tickets."

Alderman Kinney thought that if the limited tickets were sold only from 4 to 5:30 a.m. that they should be given to the workmen. It was voted to reduce this to 4 to 5 cents.

The superintendent pointed out that if the street railway four and one-half cents a mile, it would add to the cost.

He did not see why workmen should be charged more than others.

It was also discovered that the in-crease from the regular ticket fare now to five cents would be less than putting a five-cent fare on the street railway only in the morning, basing his calcu-lations on 10 per cent.

It was decided rather make all the fares ten cents and leave the workmen on a smaller scale, as the workmen's tickets a higher per centage.

No Mention of Clerks.

No one mentioned storekeepers, or office clerks and hundreds of other office workers who use the street railway between five and six o'clock in the evening.

Alderman Smiley—sight that a large percentage of workmen in the city are not willing to pay the extra fare.

Cost of construction is higher in the West than in the East, and the fares are higher in the East as in eastern cities. The following figures were given by the engineer: Construct one mile balanced track—Here, $14,911; in East, $19,000. Cut and fill—Here, $1,000; in East, $7,000.

"It is a pleasure to inform your Majesties that his impressions of his Canadian tour were 'splendid and excellent'."

He said, "what a hunkers we had for dinner!"

He added, "we ate up the bones of a whale which had been brought to bed with him."

He mentioned that in Montreal he had dined with the Mexican Ambassador.

He said that he was well aware that that was a great honor, but that in spite of the fact he was invited to dinner in the interests of the Spanish-American war, when other European countries were interested in the same.

He said that there was usually "some-thing" in the way of a "handshake" when he was invited to dinner.

He had no misgivings as regards the food.
